Hello to you all!

Here is the new version of Manogat.

From now on, each month you will find a "dual" story between typical Marathi people. You will also get more visuals!!!

This month, a special issue about being aware of the risks linked to mosquito bites...

And finally, a new column: the tip of the month!!!

Enjoy reading us!

YOUR HEALTH IS IN YOUR HANDS

Watch this picture carefully, and find out the habits which are hazardous for health.

HARBA AND KERBA

(Venue - A chowk in the Vasti)

Harba : Hello, Kerba .

Kerba : Hello, Harba.

Harba : It seems you did not go for your daily round of selling vegetables today..

Kerba : Of course I did ! In fact, I sold all my vegetables...

Harba : So soon ? I have not sold even one ... I think I made a mistake by purchasing such costly vegetables.

Kerba : Oh, is it so? Tell me, when did you go to the market?

Harba : I went to the market early in the morning, bought the vegetables, came home, had breakfast and bath and now I am on my way ...

Kerba : (Smiles) I went to the market early in the morning too, but I went on my selling round directly from the market. People need the vegetables early in the morning, not in the afternoon. During last few years, I have never missed my round , so the people have faith in me. My vegetables are also of good quality. The business is in cash and I am always on time.

Harba : I was doing the same, you see, but the customers are very choosy. They want good vegetables at cheaper prices, so I used to give them at cheaper prices, but with less weight !!

Kerba : Oh, Oh !! That was not right, you tried to find a short cut but you ruined your own business.

Harba : The customers had very strange habits. They would purchase vegetables worth one rupee and eat peas costing sixty rupees/kg. I would run into loss with such business.

Kerba : Anyone would look for a little profit. It is for you to devise ways to ensure that such things do not happen.

Harba : There is only one way, I have to stop selling vegetables .

Kerba : Then how will your earn money? I'll tell you about the trick I do, I arrange all the vegetables on the cart and keep such costly vegetables in the middle, with the weighing scale on top of them.

Harba : Oh! That's a good idea...

Kerba: Okay, then, bye bye, I have to take my wife to the movie...

Harba : (Sighs) Will I ever be able to enjoy this way..
